

THE PHOENIX AWARD® COMMITTEE

1976 PAC Winner

Dr. Roy S. Arrandale

Dr. Arrandale's distinguished career in the glass industry began in 1941 when he joined Thatcher Glass Manufacturing Company. He held various technical positions and in 1966 was named Senior Vice President -Research and Engineering and Member of the Board.

He holds degrees from the University of Illinois, Carnegie Institute of Technology, and Yale University. His membership in professional organizations includes the American Ceramic Society, American Chemical Society, Society of Air Pollution Control, Keramos, Sigma Xi, and The American Society for Testing Materials, among many.

He is a leading authority in the fields of glass technology fuels, furnaces and air pollution control. His inventions include the "Shatter Guard" bottle.